Post Accident Drug Testing

Mandatory Post Accident Drug Testing

Your workers' compensation insurance carrier Ascot REQUIRES employers to conduct post-accident drug testing (PADT) after ALL workplace injuries.

A PADT is used to determine whether drugs or alcohol may have factored into the accident.

While a positive result does not necessarily mean that an employee's substance use was the main cause of the accident, it is critical that the test is performed.

The employer should establish a drug testing policy that clearly communicates how and when PADT will occur.
